Mrs. Marjorie Lekas, friend to all.

WE SALUTE YOU, MARJORIE LEKAS

Through your patience, understanding, and efficiency, you have become more than our school secretary.

Answering the never-ending questions of 222 students, keeping the office functioning properly, finding the paper punch or stapler when no one else can, dispensing band aids, and performing all of the other non-secretarial services which we have received with your smile have stretched your energies far beyond the call of duty.

To you, Mrs. Lekas, we dedicate The Quiver for this school year. May you always remember the many students who have passed through these doors. They will never forget you.

Hers is a busy typewriter.

She locates a sophomore.

The day is done, and she is free to go home at last.

OUR LEADERS

Administrator . . . teachers . . . board members . . . student leaders . . . combine their efforts and abilities to plan and provide for the well-rounded program of education and activities which we know as school life.

STUDENT COUNCIL GAINS IN RESPONSIBILITY

Through the effective advisorship of Mr. Gibson, the student council has gained in ability and responsibility in student government. Encouraged at all times to operate democratically within the limits of student authority, the members of the council have shown themselves able to think clearly, to discuss intelligently, and to gracefully accept majority decisions.

Student body officers attended the Region 3 conferences.

Our student body officers, seated: Gary Schneider, president; Keith Klum, vice president. Standing: Sue Sasaki, treasurer; Mike Heenan, sergeant-at-arms; June Rehwalt, assistant treasurer; Sue Coshow, secretary, assemble for the last time at the close of a busy year.

Gary Schneider proved his ability by doing an outstanding job as student body president.

OF OUR FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT

We have taken for granted their interest in us as students, as individuals. Many times we have placed full responsibility for our education upon our teachers; we have ignored the fact that even the most able teacher can only teach—we must do the learning.

Let us take a new look at our teachers. They come to us prepared to help us get an education. We have a right to expect this.

Beyond this, they give of themselves. Let us appreciate this as the extra gift of our democratic system of education.

NON-TEACHING PERSONNEL ARE IMPORTANT

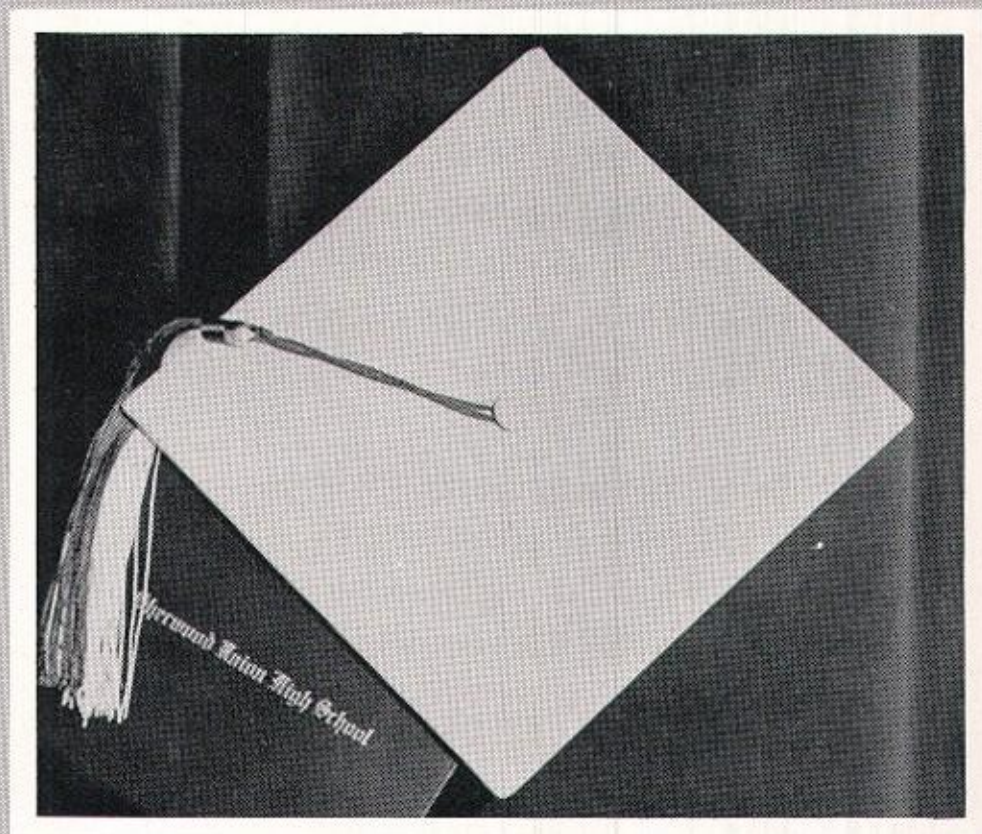

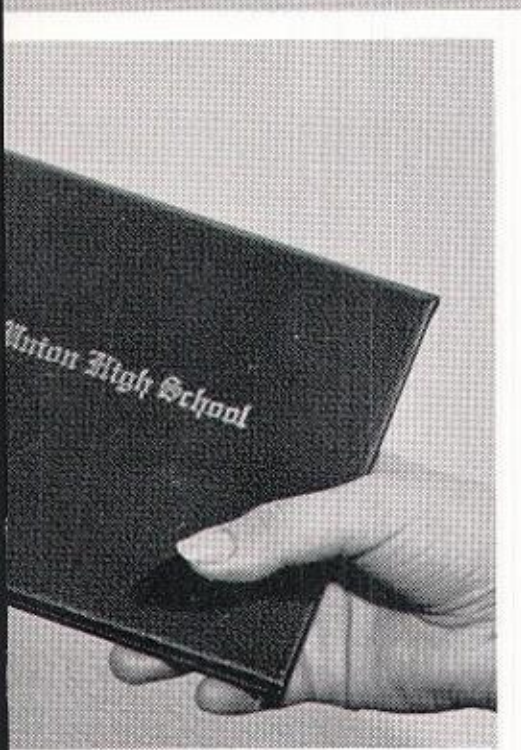

Important to a good school are the non-teaching personnel. Bus drivers have the responsibility of safely transporting students wherever they go as members of our student body, whether it is to and from school, or elsewhere.

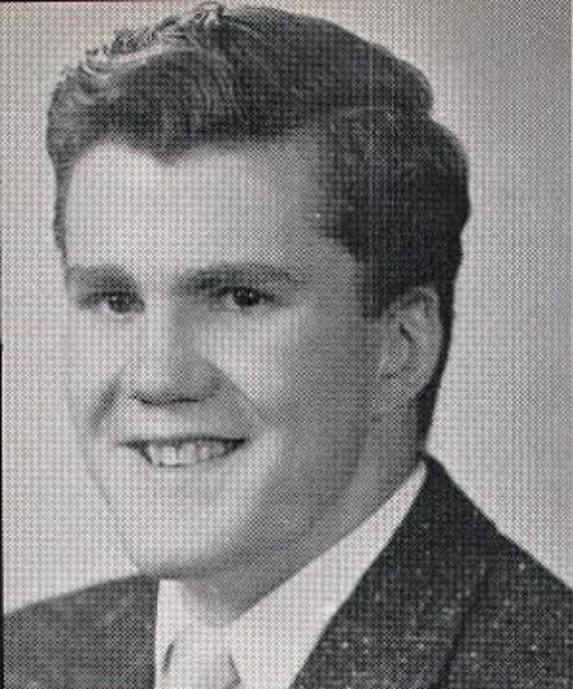

Maintenance of the school building and grounds is another important responsibility, one which requires constant labor and genuine interest on the part of the men who do the work.

Interrupting their work around the building, Bob Baxter and Homer Haynes pause briefly for the photographer.

Raising and lowering the flags is Homer's daily responsibility.

FRESHMAN CLASS UPS SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

Seventy strong, the freshman class pushed the school enrollment to 222. Eager to meet the new challenge of high school, the freshmen were good participants in school activities. They sponsored a contest within their own group at the time of the school magazine drive, the losers paying with a party.

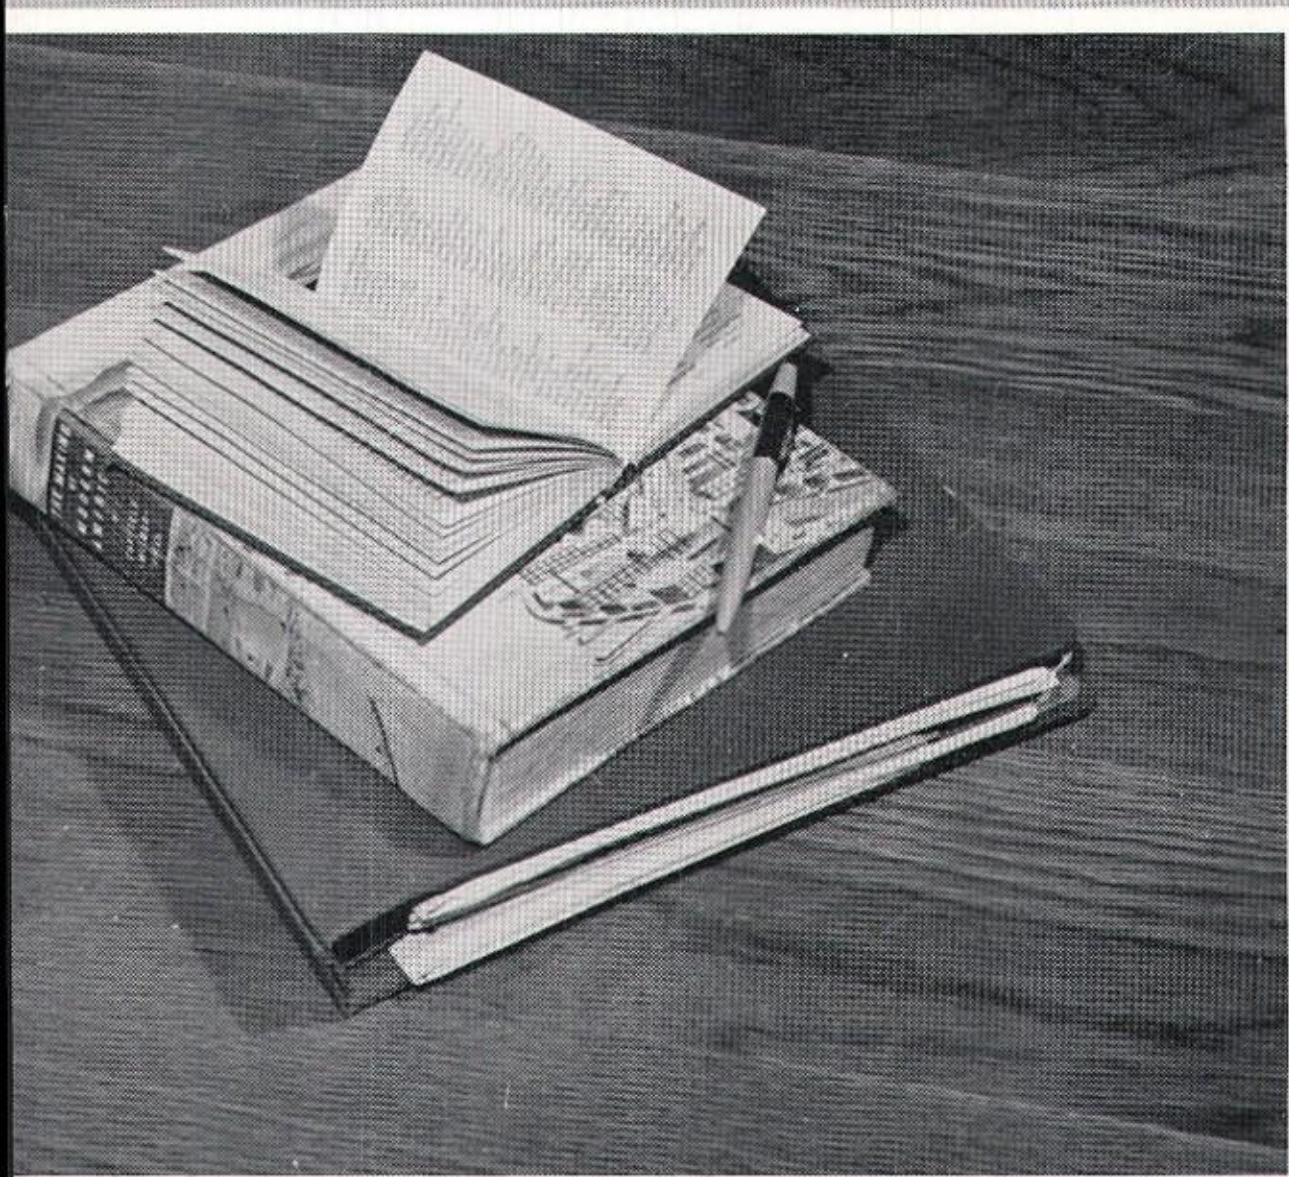

A good fun party was given for the sophomores on January 18, in return for their earlier initiation.

The candy concession was operated throughout the year by the members of this class.

Sharon Parrott, Derryck Dittman, and Shirley Petersen examine one of the many collections studied in Mr. Olson's general science class.

GOOD ACCOMPLISHMENTS IN SCIENCE DESPITE CROWDING

To learn about our world in its universe, to study energy and mechanics, to trace the development of living things, to dissect, to experiment—these have been our privilege in the sciences classes.

Although crowded and needing equipment to keep pace with the increased emphasis on science, the department has been strong in its challenge for inquiry, for learning.

Tom Liesy and Phil Garstka do some independent experimenting in a science lab class.

Mr. Scheele looks on as Kathy Fischer and Janet Allison get set up for some microscopy.

Sharon Cereghino, Linda Hubert, Mr. Graymer, and Sandy Sanders take a look at the world as they study geography.

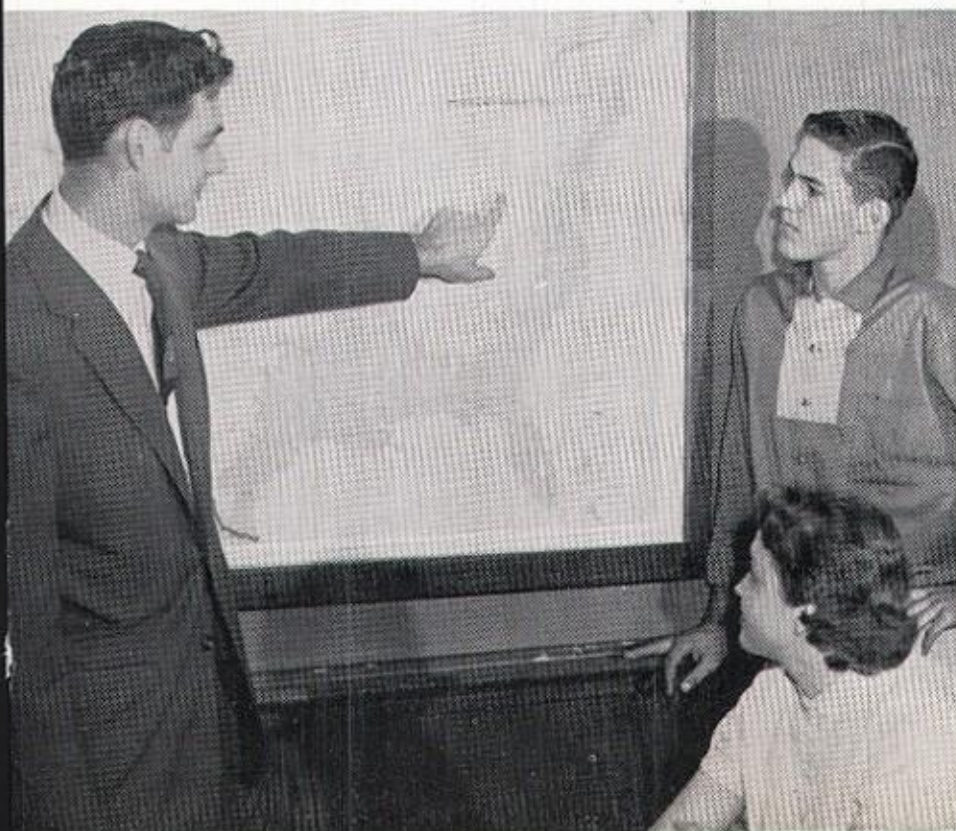

GROUP DISCUSSION CHARACTERIZED SOCIAL STUDIES CLASSES

With enthusiasm and thoroughness, Mr. Graymer and Mr. Gibson presented materials, stimulated discussions, and required research papers from students in the social studies classes.

Here, they gained some understanding of other lands, other peoples; they acquired important knowledge about our own past; they explored present unsolved problems in our society; and as they learned, they found more thoughtful appreciation for the democratic way of life.

Mr. Graymer points to an area of historical interest as U. S. History students Liisa Petajasmaki and Tom Liesy give attention.

Having a discussion in one corner of the American Problems class are Jeannine Gray, Harold Morris, and Wayne Drager.

Mrs. Wilkins with her advanced homemaking group display a canning project. From left to right: Joan Kummrow, Geraldine Lerol, Janice Edy, Joanne Liesy, Lenore Smith, Betty Ferris, Nancy Westcott, and Kathryn Eaton.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS GET GOOD TRAINING

Where else in the school program can our future homemakers better learn about the responsibilities which make for more satisfying family life and community service than in the homemaking department?

Under the skilled leadership of Mrs. Wilkins, and in her well-equipped department, the girls at Sherwood High have opportunities for learning and doing seldom equalled, even in homemaking departments of larger schools.

D. Pileggi, J. Hansen, J. Whisman, D. Rome, J. Isaacson, D. Sullivan, K. Delker, B. Schmit.

BOTH SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY ENJOYED MUSIC DEPARTMENT TALENT

Through our fine music department, the entire school and community have profited.

The students in the various groups have found satisfaction and growth through musical expression. In the classrooms, there was the suddenly opened door, the wide windows on a warm day, or the special practice in the gym to lift the spirit.

And, always generous and prepared, our music department performed at functions in and out of school for the pleasure of all.

Delightful music was furnished by the Girls' Glee Club at the F.F.A. Banquet. The girls are, first row: B. Andrews, L. Everett, D. Schaffer, K. Eaton, V. Davis, T. Klym. Second row: P. Burns,

M. Anenson, J. Liesy, K. Jackson, R. Drake, L. Tanner, S. Stearns, M. Ramsey, J. Kummrow. Hidden: L. Oyler, S. Friend, W. Robbins, J. Crossway, M. Gibbons. J. Edstrom is at the piano.

OVERTIME WORK MADE "IMPOSSIBLE" POSSIBLE IN PUBLICATION OF SCHOOL PAPER

Trying to meet deadlines within a thirty-minute activity period three times a week became an impossible task for THE ARROW staff. A genuine interest in the publication of a good school paper, however, found the staff working many overtime hours to produce a mimeographed paper of outstanding quality.

Mr. Sanders supervised the journalism group.

Judy Gamble was the talented, untiring editor who stayed on the job until the last copy of each issue was stapled.

Assistant editor Sue Coshow receives some advice from Mr. Sanders on a headline story.

FIRST ROW: L. Oyler, M. Wert, M. Gibbons, K. Stevens, K. Fischer.

G.A.A. MEMBERS EARNED AWARDS GIVEN AT ASSEMBLY

With playdays, inter-school, and intramural sports contests, the girls in G.A.A. proved themselves physically fit, and deserving of the emblems, letters, and pins which they received at the Awards Assembly.

Interested in the improvement of the girls' dressing room, the members cleaned walls, painted windows, and hung new mirrors.

To provide a gay finale for the football season, the G.A.A. sponsored a Homecoming Dance.

Money was added to their treasury from the operation of a Coke machine and from a corsage-telegram booth at the annual carnival.

Carolyn Jeffers and Sharon Cereghino are busy making popcorn at a football game.

Girls' League officers for this year were J. Braden, treasurer; K. Eaton, president; C. Staven, vice president; K. Snyder, secretary.

GIRLS' LEAGUE ADDS SCHOLARSHIP TO GOOD DEEDS

With a long list of good deeds behind them, the Girls' League for the school year 1957-58 will be remembered for assuming responsibility for keeping the girls' rooms clean, and for adding Christmas cheer to the daily grind of pre-holiday classes with their gaily decorated tree, but most of all for voting a $100 scholarship to be given to a deserving senior girl active in League affairs.

The organization also sponsored speakers who brought vocational information in several fields.

To provide money for the tea, the scholarship, and other projects, the League promoted a blanket raffle at the carnival to supplement the regular earnings from the sale of popcorn and ice cream.

The Girls' League entertain all of the mothers at the annual Mothers' Tea.

Cathy Staven, Linda Van Dolah, and Sue Coshow were on hand at all athletic events to lead the rooting section in song.

SONG AND CHEER LEADERS KEPT ROOTERS ON TOES

In no other group is it so apparent that the leaders set the pace as it is in the cheering section at any athletic event.

Song and cheer leaders kept the rooters on their toes in support of the teams whether they were winning or losing.

Cheerleaders Dee Ann Vick, Kayron Stevens, Linda Scott, and Letty Oyler were beautiful, bouncy, and effective.

KEY CLUB NEEDS STRENGTH TO ASSUME PROPER ROLE

Unfortunately, the Key Club has not been a strong organization in our school. Members of the club did paint the disposal cans on the school grounds. They also had charge of circulating the March of Dimes cards at a student assembly.

Four members attended the district convention in Portland. The Sherwood representatives were Dick Marlin, Alan Brickley, Terry Hite and Charles Hansen. Dick Marlin also served in the post of Lieutenant-Governor for the Pacific Northwest Club.

ROCKET LAUNCHING LED SCIENCE CLUB ACTIVITIES

Science Club members were enlightened through many interesting projects this year. Drawing the widest attention were the experiments in the construction and launching of rockets. For those students interested in science, this club provides the opportunity for an expanded program in this field.

INTERESTED PARENTS AID SCHOOL PROGRAM

Our parents take an interest in the activities of our school through the Moms and Dads' Club. Money-making projects this year included a donkey basketball game and a faculty-dads baseball game. To honor all the athletes of the school, a banquet was given toward the end of the sports season. Money was contributed to the foreign exchange student fund, and the $100 scholarship was awarded to Nancy Longway.

Nancy Longway is the happy recipient of the Moms and Dads' scholarship. Mrs. King congratulates her.

Mrs. Aylene Grigsby and Mrs. Ruth King serve at the All-Sports Banquet.

FIRST ROW: Coach Al Olson, G. Monahan, T. Liesy, W. Drager, G. Schneider, K. Klum, D. Weidemann, C. Schmeltzer, B. Myers, T. Crecraft, D. Stearns, M. Heenan, Assistant Coach Len Scheele. MATMEN PLACE SECOND IN LEAGUE — THREE HAVE SUCCESS IN DISTRICT MEET

With the guidance of Mr. Scheele, the Sherwood matmen once again captured second place in the Yawama League. To complete the successful year, three wrestlers placed in the district tournament. Mike Heenan and Keith Klum each placed third, and Dee Pileggi placed fourth. The disqualification of a competing wrestler sent Mike Heenan to the state tournament. Luck was not with him, however, and he failed to place.

Mike Heenan was named the Wrestler-of-the-Year at the athletic banquet.

This year about 20-30 eager and determined girls participated during the basketball season. They finished their games with a 3-1 record, losing only once to George Fox.

The girls not only played their best, but they showed good sportsmanship as well. Dee Ann Vick and Nancy Westcott were the student coaches.

WE PARTICIPATE

May Day . . . the Junior Prom . . . banquets . . . dances . . . parties . . . the activities at Sherwood are varied and numerous. No school year would be complete without them and the last minute rush of preparations necessary to the success of these events.

Nancy Westcott is crowned queen of the Homecoming Dance by Lettermen president, Dick Heater.

A muddy moment in the victorious game with Clackamas.

HOMECOMING PLANS INCLUDED QUEEN AND COURT

This year, for the first time at Sherwood High, a court was chosen to reign over the homecoming festivities.

The Lettermen's club and the football team nominated the candidates from whom the student body elected the queen.

A huge bonfire and rally preceded the game. The "Autumn Leaves" dance on November 1 became a victory dance as we beat Clackamas.

Football captain Gary Schneider acted as escort for princess Beverly Bradley. Darold Wiedemann escorted princess Barbara Beeler.

F.F.A. SCORES WITH BANQUET

As could be expected from past experience with the F.F.A. at banquet time, the event, held on December 11, was another outstanding success.

In addition to their own parents, whom they were honoring, the boys invited school board members, teachers, community members and representatives from other F.F.A. chapters.

Achievements of the individual members, as well as chapter projects were reviewed, and awards were presented.

Adin Hester, state F.F.A. president, was the interesting and talented speaker for the evening.

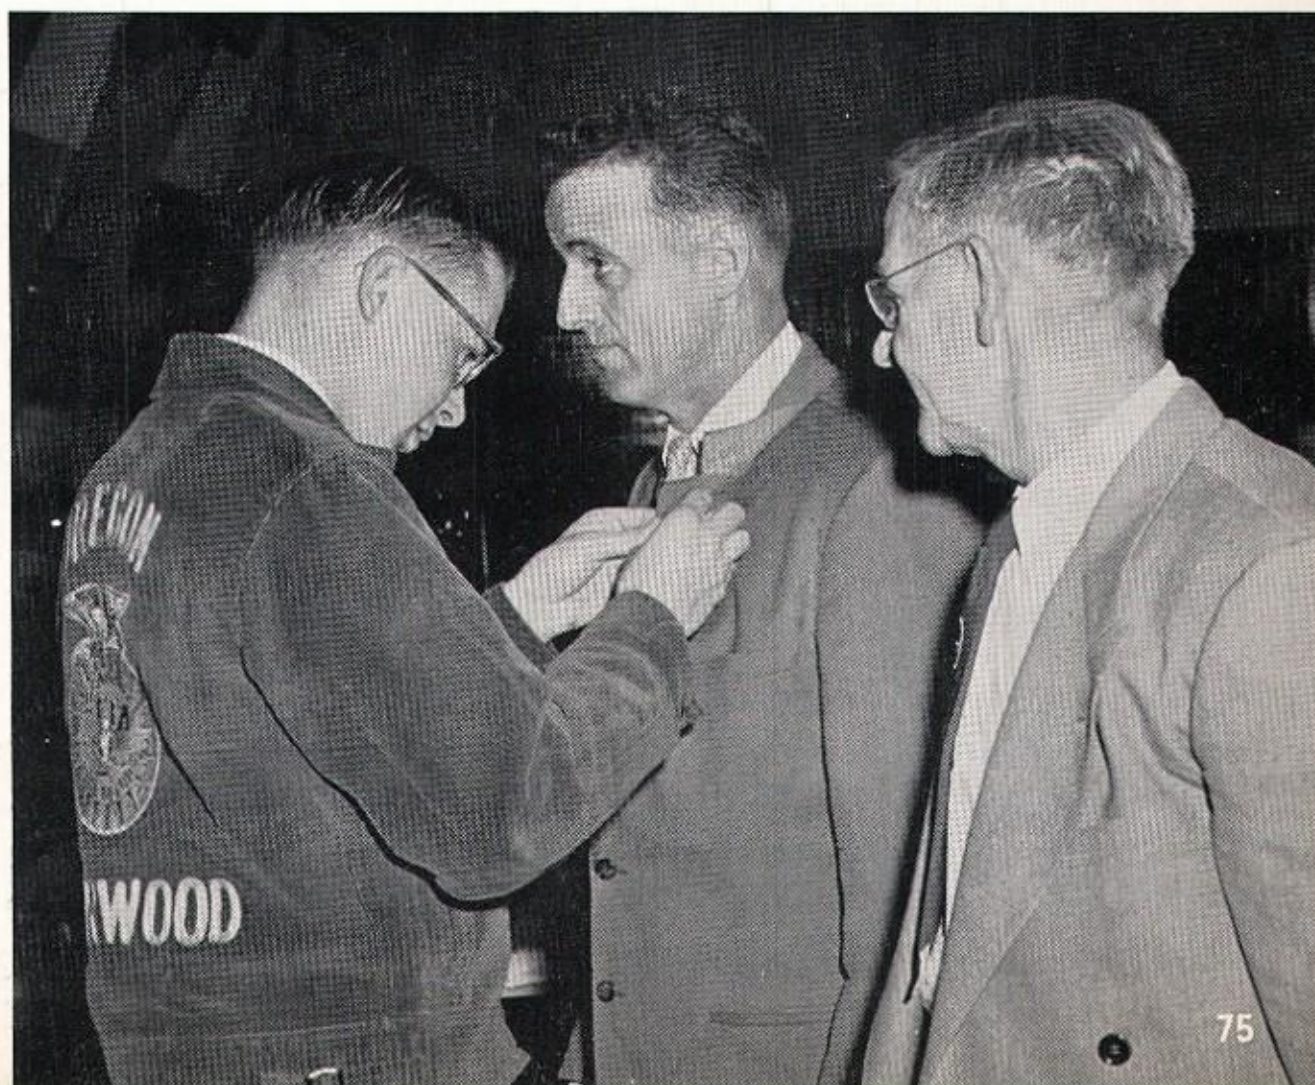

Adin Hester gives his address.

Don Bischof, F.F.A. president, also made a good master of ceremonies. Mr. Gibson, Gary Schneider, standing, and Adin Hester, state F.F.A. president, are attentive.

For special services to the Sherwood chapter of F.F.A., Mr. Ed Schneider and Bob Baxter receive pins from Don Bischof as they become honorary members.

Miss Schaer directs the girls' glee club as they sing "around the world" songs for banquet guests.

Liisa Petäjasmäki spoke of her native Finland.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

On February 12, the junior-senior banquet was given by the juniors to honor the senior class. To carry out the theme, "Out of This World," the banquet tables were appropriately decorated with flying saucer nut cups and sputnik centerpieces.

The girls' glee took the audience around the world in music with Spanish, Slavic, American and Finnish songs. Also featured on the program was a vocal solo by Walter Ratzlof, and a talk by Liisa Petäjasmäki, our foreign exchange student from Finland. The guest speaker was Major R. J. Schmidt from the Portland Air Base.

A serious and factual speaker was Major Schmidt.

Guests enjoy delicious food and unique decorations.

The band relaxes between numbers at their concert. FIRST ROW: J. Edstrom, M. Hill, J. Allison, T. Hayden, B. Anderson, L. Van Dolah, M. Gray. SECOND ROW: L. Longway, J. Watson, P. Garstka, B. Holznagel, B. King, R. Kirkpatrick, G. Edy, K. Delker, J. Anderson, B. Myers, D.

Rome, K. Hopkins, S. Anderson, J. Rehwalt, K. Snyder. THIRD ROW: T. Klum, W. Robbins, J. Allen, W. Drager, D. Sullivan, B. Peters, J. Nester, B. Coshaw, K. Jackson. Miss Schaer is directing.

MUSIC ACTIVITIES INCLUDED THREE CONCERTS AND OPERETTA

Under the able direction of Miss Schaer, our music department again showed its ability and versatility. Three concerts were given this year in place of the usual two. December 18 was the date for the Christmas concert; a band concert was held on May 13; and a choral concert was presented May 20. The latter concert featured guest instrumentalists from the Flenner orchestra.

Other activities throughout the year called upon the music department for talent.

Through the combined efforts of the music department and the senior class, an operetta, "The Lowland Sea," was presented this year in place of the traditional plays. Thrilling to the warmth and simplicity of the story, the audience responded particularly to the portrayals of Martha Hill, Keith Klum, Wayne Drager, and Jack Whisman.

Stage decorations were avoided, and a musical masterpiece was achieved through costumes, lighting, and direction. Mr. Sanders assisted Miss Schaer in this.

The date was March 14.

Keith Klum and Martha Hill turn in splendid performances as Johnny Dee and Dorie Davis.

Mrs. Mutch transforms Jack Whisman to fit the part of Nathaniel Hazard in "The Lowland Sea," while Martha Hill looks on.

ORIENTAL PROM THEME BEAUTIFULLY DEPICTED

Transforming the school gymnasium into an exotic wonderland for their Oriental Gardens prom theme, the junior class sponsored this event on the night of April 18.

Completely enclosed with crinoline walls and ceiling, and decorated with Oriental lanterns and parasols, the room became an intimate enclosure where the bubbling of the waterfall as it cascaded down a fern covered hill achieved a most realistic garden effect.

The music of Ken Knott and his orchestra was delightful and danceable.

Vice president Ken Sullivan adjusts the crown for Queen Glenda I.

Princess Betty Anderson, and attendant Roger McFall, were chosen by the freshmen.

Princess Sharon McClain, and her attendant, Larry Bahns, were the good choices of the juniors.

ALL CLASSES REPRESENTED IN COURT OF QUEEN JUDY I

This close-up shows lovely Queen Judy I, and Gary Schneider, prime minister, after the festivities.

Seniors Wayne Drager and Dee-Ann Vick were attendant and princess.

Trampoline clown Keith Hopkins almost stole the show.

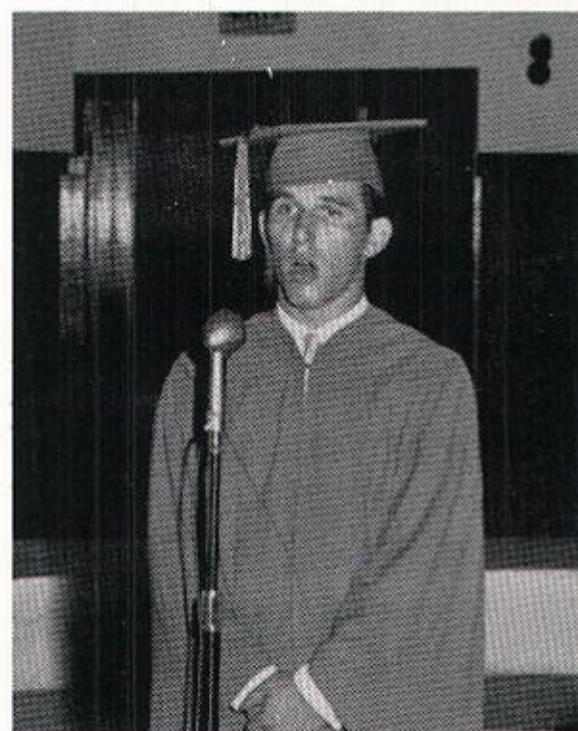

Members of the graduating class are thoughtful and serious at the baccalaureate services.

GOOD ATTENDANCE MARKED SERVICES

Sunday, May 25, was the day of the baccalaureate services. A good crowd was in attendance to hear the message directed to the graduating seniors by Paul E. Keyser, assistant general secretary of the Portland YMCA. Rev. William Bowles gave the invocation and the benediction.

The program was completed with three appropriate selections by the mixed chorus. Wayne Drager opened the program with a bass solo.

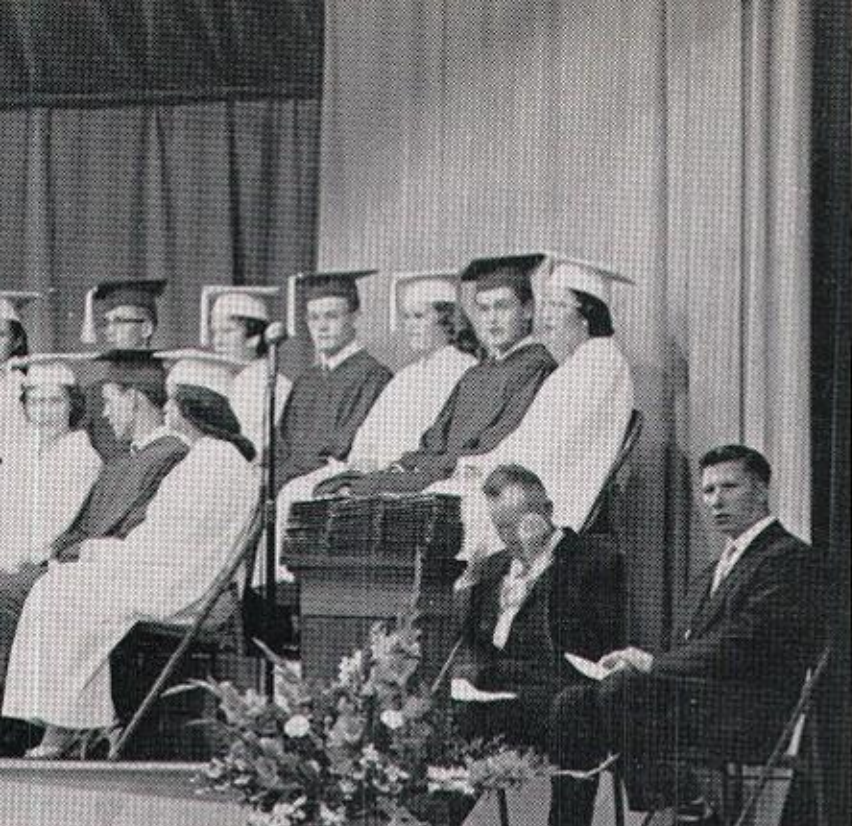

Wayne Drager sings "Deep River."

Rev. William Bowles, speaker Paul E. Keyser, and Mr. Gibson at baccalaureate.

Mr. Keyser's message was "Facing the Future Unafraid."

Snyder, M. Heenan, J. Kummrow, G. Monahan, H. Morris, V. Davis, J. Mikels, M. Hill, P. Garstka, S. Friend, T. Crecraft, B. Day, G. Anderson, S. Sasaki.
